AL HIRSCHFELD THE SPEAKEASIES OF 1932

“Let nobody dare say this book was not well researched,” warns Hirschfeld. “This may be the best damned researched book ever! Every single specialte de la maison was tried over and over by ny pal Gordon Kahn and me until we passed out testing it for our reading public.”

2-Jack and Charlie’s - “An example of what decorative restraint, spaciousness, excellent cuisine, and nonpariel beverages will do for a place.”

3-Julius’ - “A madhouse without keepers.”

4-The Bath Club - “Black pearls in shirt fronts and ‘mirabile dictu!’ real evening pumps on the males.”

5-The Mansion - “One of Prohibitions great-est blessings.”

6-Zum Brauhaus - “Otto is the boniface and bartender.”

Opposite page:

Mike’s - “Curfew is at three. But don’t go. Follow the crowd out to the annex. Two doors away, down to the cellar. Tables are scattered inside and around empty coal bins.”
